Rear Admiral Benson Tells Philadelphia Business Men That Nation Must Be Prepared.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 5 .- A warning to the United States to be prepared to meet military eventualities at the conclusion of the war now convulsing Europe was sounded by Rear Admiral William S. Benson, chief of Admiral William S. Benson, chief of naval operation of the United States Navy, at a dinner given him tonight by a group of Philadelphia citizens.

The admiral expressed the belief that the nation would be prepared to meet any crisis that might arise, but he insisted that the surest way to prevent trouble was to be adequately bulwarked against it. He said:

"When the war in Europe is ended there will be tremendous indemnities to be paid. Our national wealth will remain undiminished. Already the eyes of avarice have been turned upon us. What the result will be God alone knows. But we know that if we are properly prepared there is no nation on earth that dare attack us.

The Best Safeguard.

"I do not believe we will have trouhle: at the same time the best safeguard is preparedness. Everything in this direction that should be done, I am sure, will be done," The dinner was given the rear admiral as a testimonial for his services as commandant at the Philadelphia navy yard before he was appointed chief of operations.

His explanation is thoroughly definite and detailed in all facts he information thus placed in the hands of the military authorities has been communicated to the American mbassy and already has been transmitted to Washington. There is little doubt but that Lody had a stolen passport obtained from Capt. Von Preiger's agency. Rosenthal himself was equipped with an emergency passport issued in Berlin at the beginning of the war. He pre-tended with great assurance when arrested that he was an American citizen traveling in Europe, even mentioning as evidence in support of this assetion his activities in Berlin in assis tion his activities in Berlin in assisting the American relief committees in their relief of Americans caught in Germany. His story seemed to be further supported by a decided American personality, his familiarity with American cities and his assertion that he was a traveling agent for a patent gas mantle concern. He explained his presence in Berlin, at The Hague, in Copenhagen and other continental cities satisfactorily.

The congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage Association has recently completed an organization with the various state socie-sional Union sent into the congressional districts non-resident workers who were unacquainted with the local situation and hostile to all democratic candidates, though certain democratic candidates were at that time and always had been among the stanchest friends of suffrage in Congress. The national association has now completed an organization under which every state has its own congressional chairman and every congressional district has a woman in charge, who is kept constantly supplied with information from the Washington office."

ties whereby it will be possible to bring pressure to bear upon congressmen in their own home districts. Mrs. George A. Mosshart, chairman of the Washington Woman Suffrage Coun-cil, which is the local auxiliary of the national congressional committee, said today in reference to this matter: "Much confusion was occasioned in the suffrage campaign in the western states by the fact that the Congres-sional Union sent into the congression-
